column by Joe Judge when the National's first sacker slammed a single to center that produced the winning run in today's game against the Browns. It was another one-run margin with the count? They didn't go fifteen rounds this afternoon, just the regulation nine, and Joe's winning wallop was produced in the fifth round.

The Nationals took the lead, altering the fourth Tobin beat out a slow roller to Foster, with one down and roller to Foster, with one down and duced in the fifth round.

The Nationals took the lead, allowed the Browns to the it, gave them the lead in the second, and waited until the fifth frame to at-defense in this game. Shaw was guilty, also Judge, Shotton missed guilty, also Judge, Shotton missed one and Ainsmith lost a high, foul but all of this was erased with what happened in the fifth round.

With one out, Shaw slammed a single to left and was forced by Shotton. Bert's speed carried him to first ahead of Austin's throw by a step, trying for the double play.

Bert put on some more speed and Bert put on some more speed and stole second. Foster jockeyed around the plate until he had a three-two call from Rogers and hit between Tobin and Smith for a clean triple. Shotton trotted around clean triple. Shotton trotted around to the scoring station. Then Judge came through with a neat single, a low liner to center, and Foster scored. The Browns did their scoring in the early innings. Maisel was safe when Judge fumbled an easy grounder. Austin bunted straight to Shaw who missed the mark at second and hurled past Milan in center. Maisel scored, but Austin trying for third was caught, Milan to Shanks to Foster. Before this happened the Nationals Before this happened the Nationals but over one, although it looked as f they could run away with the natch. Shotton drew a pass and topped at second on Foster's single, ludge bunted safely, filling the bases, they are the safely filling the bases.

St. Louis. Mo., July 26.—Another kicked the ball over to Austin forcing Milan at second, Foster scoring. Judge tried to follow Eddie over the roller to Foster, with one down and reached second when Gedeon was thrown out by Shanks. Smith singled over second and Tobin stopped at third. The double steal was tried and
